Berlin Alexanderplatz

Autor

Alfred Döblin

Sinopsis

Berlin Alexanderplatz is a landmark novel by Alfred Döblin that explores the turbulent life of Franz Biberkopf, a man recently released from prison navigating the chaotic urban landscape of 1920s Berlin. The novel uses innovative narrative techniques blending fragmented narratives, inner monologues, and stream-of-consciousness to capture the complexity of modern urban existence.This edition presents a detailed and immersive portrayal of Berlin’s social and political milieu during the Weimar Republic, addressing themes of human struggle, redemption, identity, and societal pressures. It appeals to readers interested in modernist literature, urban history, and existential narratives.With a rich background on Döblin’s life and influences, the book situates the novel within the broader context of German modernism and post-war cultural reflections.

E-Book

Presentación: EPUB (Digital: descarga y online)

Tamaño: 0.63 Megabytes (MB)

Número absoluto de páginas: 167 Páginas

AD

Sobre el autor

Alfred Döblin

2026 © Sistema Integrado de Metadata Estandarizada desarrollado por Hipertexto - Netizen

Palabras clave

Novela; Berlín; Años 1920; Vida urbana; Posguerra; Prisión; Sociedad alemana; Alfred döblin; Franz biberkopf; Literatura moderna; Narrativa alemana

2026 © Sistema Integrado de Metadata Estandarizada desarrollado por Hipertexto - Netizen