Endangered mammals. Among jaguars, margays and pumas

Autor

Claudia Zúñiga-Vega

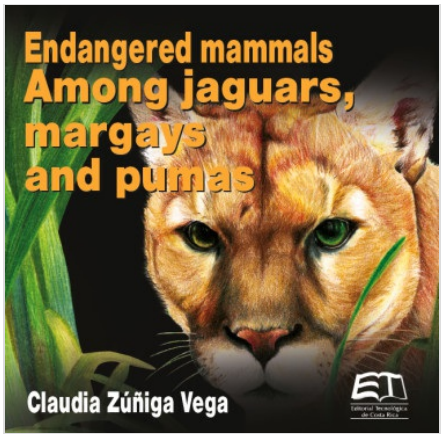

Sinopsis

This book addresses the serious threat of extinction faced by big cats such as the jaguar, the caucel, and the puma, due to deforestation, competition for space with humans, and poaching for their valuable fur. By exploring their habits, diet, and natural enemies, the book highlights the urgent need to understand these species to promote conservation efforts. By learning more about these fascinating animals and joining protection initiatives, we can make a meaningful contribution to safeguarding their survival.
